Franklin Ansah-Antwi

Associate

Concurrent to his partnership with ValueSelling Associates, Franklin is also the Managing Partner of the StratAfrique hub in Ghana. Since 2006 he has been responsible for driving business growth and establishing profitable relations with local and international consulting networks. His expertise is in the facilitation of Organization Development interventions complemented by his keen focus on developing programs that influence system-wide effectiveness. Franklin is passionate about training people because it gives him a chance to help them act on new insights they discover during the learning process.

Prior to joining StratAfrique, Franklin spent several years consulting in business development and research for Tertium Consulting and at Ernst & Young he was responsible for development and marketing their corporate education programs.

Franklin studied at Universidad de Complutense, in Madrid, Spain and is proficient in Spanish. He attended the University of Ghana in Legon receiving a B.A in Geography & Resource Development and Spanish. He also has a Masters of Arts and Post Graduate Diploma in Organizational Development from the University of Cape Coast, Ghana.

Keep it simple. Drive results.
